 1:30-4:30pm
 Maravilla Clubhouse

Dr. Bob Weinman, lecturer extraordinaire, will take his legendary opera presenting skills to a new level in a fun presentation on the artistry of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in their films of song and dance. As usual, he will present video clips of the important parts of the films and has promised we will all go home humming the many well-known favorites; however, he does not assume any liability for those who might injure themselves because of their inability to mimic the fabulous dance steps illustrated.

BIOGRAPHY

When he was 12 years old, Bob Weinman's father took him to the old Met on 39th St. to see his first opera. It was Carmen, and, needless to say, he was smitten, and opera has been a part of his life ever since. After studying physics at Cornell and Caltech, his career as a rocket scientist gave him plenty of opportunity to attend hundreds of performances all over the world and to study musicology in his spare time.
