The Genderbread Person

by www.ItsPronouncedMetrosexual.com

There was no course in Human Sexuality when most of us were in college. So what is covered in colleges today? Why is this such a popular class? There are still many myths about sexuality. We'll give the audience a chance to see what they know, given some facts and myths. An area that my students are excited to learn more about is the experience of a transsexual, like Bruce/Caitlyn Jenner. One of the most loved guest speakers in my classes, a trans-woman, is happy to join me in this program by sharing her life and answering questions to help society understand who transsexuals are.

BIOGRAPHY: Marian Shapiro grew up in Berkeley and began her career in sexuality education when she led a group of activists in opening a Planned Parenthood clinic in a small town in the Bible Belt. What started as a volunteer project soon became a part-time and then full-time job with Planned Parenthood as Educator, Counselor, and Clinic Manager, with training in Boston, New York, and San Francisco, among other cities, provided by Planned Parenthood and the American Association of Sex Educators, Counselors, and Therapists. Marian soon became nationally known in those organizations for her award-winning educational projects and spoke as a presenter at national meetings as Director of Education for Planned Parenthood of Kansas.

Marian got her Bachelor’s degree from UC Berkeley and her Master’s in Social Work from Kansas University. She has been teaching “The Psychology of Human Sexuality” at Santa Barbara City College for the past 11 years.
